Pinehurst Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Pinehurst, N. C., January 14.—The week has been one of dinners, dancing and bridge, the most important of many spreads a banquet tendered by the Metropolitan "Neat Goffers" Club, to honorary members and guests at the Carolina Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for eighteen, and the table lavishly decorated with an electrically lighted basket of crimson roses as the centerpiece; the favors, dainty imported souvenirs, the gift of the hostess, were laid out on a table. The group included the members, President and Mrs. E. J. Phillips, Secretary-Treasurer A. W. Erickson, W. H. Childs, N. T. Puffer, J. C. Platt and Dr. E. Van Glish, all of New York; Lawrence Abbott and E. J. Ridgeway, the only absentees; the honorary members, Edward Morris and Mrs. Morris, of Philadelphia; Harvey Potter, of Erie, Pa.; Clements and E. J. Stuer, of New York; and the guests, T. M. Rianhard, E. Clements and James McCutcheon, of New York; D. W. Cooke, of Montclair, N. J.; Runkle, of Boston, and S. H. Bingham, of Chicago. Following the spread, prizes were awarded to ten of those present, the most "elaborate" and "razorback" shot, which was turned over to very much surprised Mr. Clements, who carried off honors as the "nearest" golfer, namely, the highest score. Informal remarks, with President Phillips as toastmaster, rounded out the evening.

MAKE YOUR OWN HAIR TONIC

A Specialist's Advice.

In a recent issue the New York Herald published a special article on the care of the hair, in which was given the formula for a home-made Hair Tonic, which was highly recommended for its remarkable hair-growing properties, as well as for stopping falling hair, revitalizing the hair roots, destroying the dandruff germ and restoring gray hair to its natural color. The article was of special interest to me, as I have been troubled for many years with a bald head, notwithstanding the fact that the formula was one which I myself have prescribed in countless cases with most astonishing results. I remember one case in particular in which I prescribed it for a man who had been bald for many years, and in less than two months after he began to use his head was completely covered with a luxuriant growth of rich, glossy hair, thus proving that hair can be made to grow on a bald head, notwithstanding the opinion of many persons to the contrary.

For the benefit of those who have not seen it before, I give the formula here: with 6 ounces of Day Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Compose, one-half drachm Oriental Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Day Rum and then add the Lavona de Compose; shake thoroughly and apply night and morning to the roots of the hair, rubbing into the scalp with the finger tips. This preparation contains no coloring matter, but restores gray hair to its natural color by its action on the hair roots. If you desire it perfumed, add one teaspoonful of Tal-Lan Perfume, which combines perfectly with the other ingredients and imparts a most pleasing scent.

Wadesboro Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Wadesboro, N. C., January 14.—The delightful suburban home of Mrs. Taron Lamar Caudle was open to a charming event Friday afternoon, when the approaching marriage of Miss Inez Caudle to Henry M. Lilly was announced. The hostess, Mrs. Caudle, very becomingly robed, received her guests, assisted by the guest of honor, Miss Caudle, and Mesdames J. M. James Huntley and Robert Lee Hardison.

A prophetic contest of hearts, wedding ring and marriage bells thrilled each guest with anxious expectancy. Little Mary Alice Caudle, daughter of the hostess, daintily gowning in white and pink, carrying a basket of Enchantress carnations, with pink ribbons, was a beautiful harbinger of the approaching event, as she lovingly laid in the hands of her aunt a beautiful ring on the throat of a lily. Then the little maiden, turning to the guests, presented a pink carnation. The opened envelope revealed the secret: Caudle-Lilly, February, 1911. Amid the fragrant hyacinths, lilies and carnations, the guests enjoyed a delightful two-course luncheon. When the time for the departure arrived each guest was handed a souvenir score-card, decorated with forget-me-nots, to be retained as a reminder of the afternoon. It was a happy hour and the entire arrangement was suggestive of the artistic hostess. The guest list included the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, together with a number of the many friends of the hostess and the guests of honor.

The marriage of Mrs. Annie Webb Lucas to Clayton S. Brasington was a very beautiful, though quiet affair. The home of the bride was tastefully decorated, using the white and green, and on either side of the arranged table, amid trailing vines. The bride was becomingly costumed in a going-away gown of gray cloth, with hat and gloves to match. The only attendants were the little Misses Coward, nieces of the bride, daintily costumed in white lilies, who held the satin ribbons from the altar, forming the aisle. The vows were taken before Rev. W. W. Chambliss, and sealed with the ring. Immediately after the ceremony, the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip, returning to make their home in this city.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church had a delightful New Year's meeting at the home of Mrs. K. W. Ashcraft Monday afternoon. Christmas wreaths and crimson holly were the decorations for the occasion. Reports were given for the Y. W. A., by the leader, Mrs. T. W. Chambliss; for the Sunbeams, by Mrs. Henry Massey; the Royal Ambassadors, by their leader, another will take up the work. All of the reports showed good progress. An all-day prayer service was planned for Wednesday. Mrs. Leslie James Hingley gave a graphic account of the World's Conference in Scotland, closing with the "Lessons of Service," by Van Dyke. After the serving of refreshments, each guest was taken to the lighted Christmas tree and received from the tree a beautiful calendar for the coming year's work.

Mrs. H. C. Parsons was the hostess of the Book Club at the meeting Thursday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. J. F. Allen was hostess to a circle of friends Tuesday evening and a delightful evening was spent with progressive forty-two.
